

THE K N I G H T

1958

NORTH ANDOVER HIGH SCHOOL

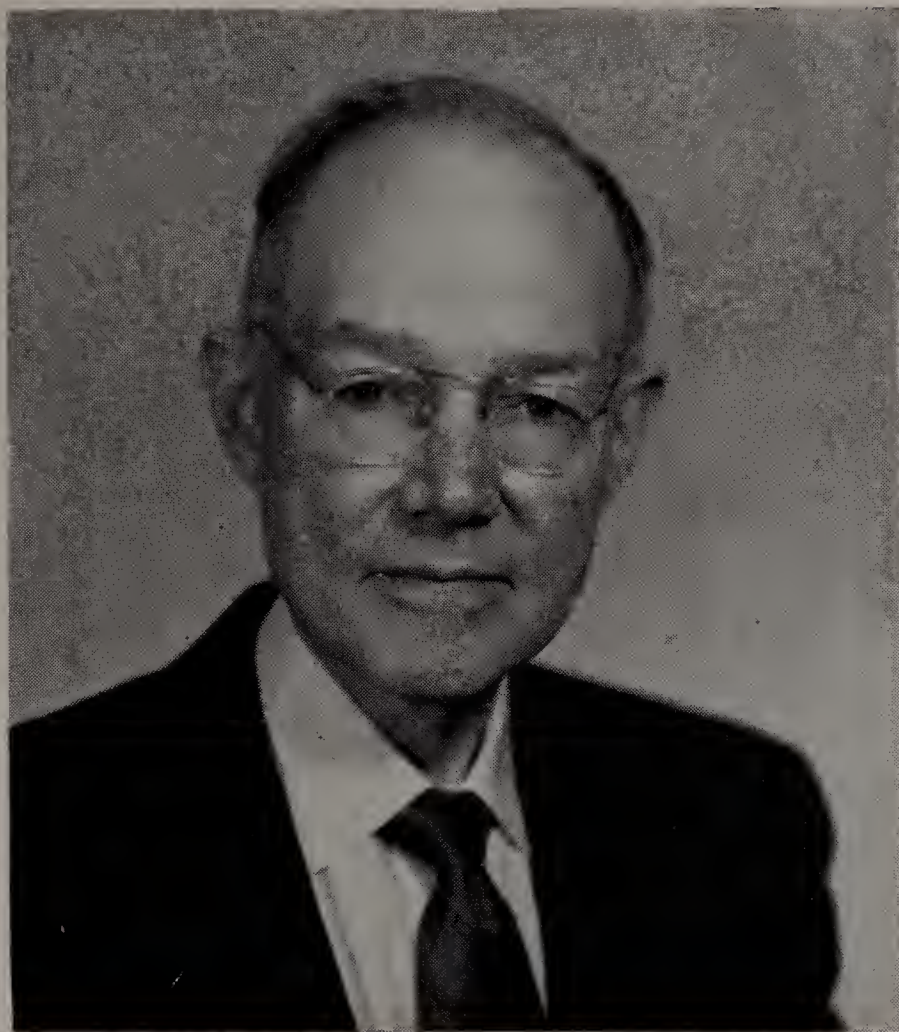

D E D I C A T I O N

WILLIAM McEVOY

We, the Class of 1958, are happy to dedicate this year's yearbook to William McEvoy as a token of our appreciation for the friendly and active interest he has always shown in all our endeavors.

I N M E M O R I A M

FRANCIS J. O'BRIEN

In remembrance of Francis J. O'Brien, former superintendent of schools in North Andover, whose deep and abiding interest in the youth of our community and many years of devoted service to their educational betterment left an indelible mark on the hearts and minds of all who knew him. His sudden and untimely passing is deeply mourned by the entire school community.

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

DOUGLAS A.
CHANDLER

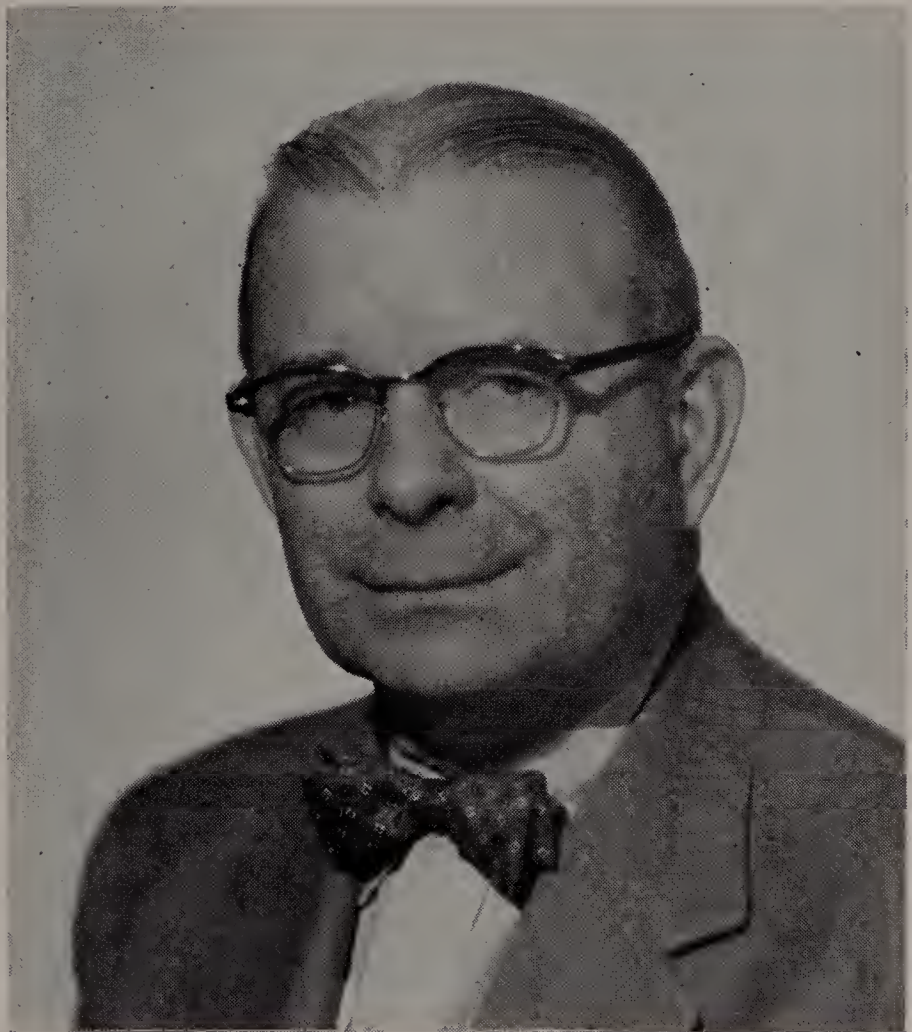

The Knight staff is happy to take this opportunity to extend a warm welcome to Mr. Douglas A. Chandler, our new superintendent of schools, who came to us this year from Hamilton.

Though he has been with us but a short period of time, Mr. Chandler's sincerity, sympathetic understanding, and friendliness have been quick to win for him the deep loyalty of all those who have come in contact with him.

We wish him many years of continued success at North Andover.

P R I N C I P A L

ALVAH G.
HAYES

The members of the senior class wish to express their sincere appreciation to Principal Alvah G. Hayes for his patient guidance, throughout four of the most important years of their lives, which has readied them to tread more successfully the unknown path which lies ahead.

FRESHMAN YEAR

One of the most significant days, in our four years of high school, was September 5, 1954. This bright morning was the first day of high school for the conventionally baffled freshmen, and the first school day at the beautiful, new North Andover High School, within whose four walls we were to spend many memorable and fruitful hours.

Our first "dabble" in politics was the election of class officers. As president, we selected Mike Greenler. The office of vice-president was filled by John Minihan, and Carole Parker was our first secretary-treasurer.

October 31, 1954, was the date. The occasion was the dedication of our million and a half dollar high school building. Karin Roebuck, a freshman, took part in the services.

Our first social event of the year was the freshman-senior dance which was held on November 5. The money obtained from this dance was the first to be deposited in our newly formed treasury, and it helped us "break the ice" with the upper classmen.

Two faculty members were also enjoying their freshman year at North Andover. They were Mr. Howard Crozier, coach of our football and track teams, and Mr. William Laroche, basketball and baseball coach. Through their untiring work our teams have achieved many victories.

The annual Brooks-North Andover Scholarships were awarded to John Pickles and Charles Warchol, as a result of their superior achievements in the competitive examination.

Karin Roebuck won first prize in the annual Annie L. Sargent Memorial Speaking Contest, and Carole Parker placed second.

As freshmen we enjoyed many interesting assemblies, including a "House of Wax" program presented by General Electric, a talent show, a one-act play entitled "Buried Treasure," a science assembly, and a Christmas pageant.

The school play, entitled "The Goose Hangs High," featured one freshman member, Karin Roebuck, who represented us well.

Thus, we climaxed our freshman year.

SOPHOMORE YEAR

It seemed that the summer days fled with exceeding rapidity, and again we were students — a little older and wiser as sophomores.

Our first duty as sophomores was to elect class officers. John Minihan was elected to the presidency and Andy Zigelis to the vice-presidency. Janet Drummey was chosen as secretary-treasurer.

As sophomores, we were thrilled by our 12-0 football victory over Methuen. This year our basketball team really gained recognition by traveling to the Boston Garden to play in the semi-finals of the Tech Tourney. Robin Munroe emerged as high scorer for the season.

Three additions to our school faculty this year included James McDonald, teacher of speech, English, and world history; Thomas Powers, teacher of history, civics, and English; and Joseph Lynch, teacher of algebra, plane geometry, and general science.

This year we enjoyed many educational, as well as entertaining, assemblies, one of which was presented by James Titus, a singer of spirituals and a story teller.

Claire Oskar won third prize in the Annie L. Sargent Speaking Contest this year.

We were very proud of the four members of our class who were inducted into the National Honor Society. The new members were Claire Oskar, Priscilla Watts, Karin Roebuck and James Valliere.

The annual school play, "Man of Seventeen," was a big success. The sophomores who helped to make it so were Carole Parker, Mary Phelan, Karin Roebuck, James Valliere, Richard Lange, and Ben Ventura.

School days swiftly passed; fall faded into winter, winter into spring, and then we were out for the summer vacation.

JUNIOR YEAR

We returned in the fall of 1955 as upperclassmen, for this was our junior year. Because of their outstanding work for our class we re-elected John Minihan as our president, Andy Zigelis as our vice-president, and Janet Drummey as secretary-treasurer.

This year we welcomed to our faculty Mr. Regan, Mr. Christison, Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Brown, and Mr. Perrault.

Many members of our class were inducted into the Honor Society this year. They included Gene Sztucinski, Vic Battaglioli, Andy Zigelis, Mary Phelan and John Holt.

First prize winner of the Annie L. Sargent Speaking Contest was Robert Hoogerzeil.

Our basketball team, the Scarlet Knights, came a step closer to the Class C championship this year, being defeated in the finals by only three points.

Loring was chosen as our class photographer.

On April 5 and 6, the annual school play was presented. The members of our class who helped make it a success were Carole Parker, Claire Oskar, Mary Phelan, Karin Roebuck, Charles Mattraw, and James Valliere.

On June the 7th the most anticipated social event of the year took place, the junior-senior prom. Music was provided by William Larochelle and a wonderful time was had by all.

Along with the class officers, Claire Oskar, Ann Marie Barrett, and Vic Battaglioli served on the prom committee.

It was with deep regret that our class mourned the death of Francis J. O'Brien, superintendent of schools. For many years he had performed superbly in his office and was a tremendous asset to the North Andover school system. His position was assumed by Mr. Douglas Chandler.

The end of another school year had soon crept upon us, and summer proved to be the stepping stone that led our class into its senior year.

SENIOR YEAR

As seniors we reached the height of our high school career. Seniors! How proudly we bore the title!

We started again by electing the class officers. We re-elected as our president, John Minihan. Andy Zigelis filled the office of vice-president. Janet Drummey served as secretary-treasurer.

Six additions to our faculty this year included Mrs. Dimlich, Miss Bailey, Miss Desrosiers, Miss Consoli, Mr. Robinson, and Mr. Hamel.

Early in March a class meeting was held, at which time it was decided to dedicate the yearbook to William McEvoy.

We selected John Minihan to be our Good Government Day representative, and the faculty selected Claire Oskar as the recipient of the D.A.R. Good Citizenship Award.

Claire Oskar, Ann Marie Barrett, and Vic Battaglioli served on the prom committee this year, along with the class officers.

The class honors were announced by Mr. Hayes as follows: Claire Oskar, valedictorian; Priscilla Watts, salutatorian; and James Valliere, class essayist. Andy Zigelis was chosen to be our class orator.

"Our Miss Brooks," the play of the year, featured two senior members in its cast, Claire Oskar and Jo Ellen Robertson, who did a splendid job.

Our basketball team, after reaching the semi-finals two years ago and the finals last year, losing both times, achieved the goal for which each member of the team had been striving, the coveted Class C State Championship. Oliver Ames of North Easton fell victim to the do-or-die effort of the Knights. The team played brilliantly. Final score, 72-64.

Within our four years at high school the Misses Clara and Veva Chapman retired from the teaching profession after many years of excellent work. They will always live in the annals of Johnson and North Andover High Schools.

In closing, we wish to thank Mr. Hayes and all the teachers at North Andover who have given us their complete co-operation and unfailing interest during our four years here.

Let us never forget those happy school days that we have shared together!

Ann Marie and Vic

JUNIOR ~ SENIOR

SENIOR PROM

On a dark and gloomy day in May of 1978, we received glad tidings from Mr. John Chase, president of the "Lovey Dovey Soap Company," informing us of our great good fortune in winning a trip on the maiden voyage of the "Scarlet Knighter," the latest ship in their renowned line of super-charged jet ocean liners.

With our bags packed, we boarded a plane which would take us to the dock. We were happy to find out we were in the capable hands of American Airlines pilot Charles Mattraw, and his co-pilot, Sonny Chamberlin.

Soon we were on the deck of the beautiful "Scarlet Knighter." We were immediately met by Captain Lenny Despres who, after showing us around the ship, invited us to sit at his table for dinner that evening. Our meal was prepared by the well known chef Robert Hoogerzeil, and his assistant Jackson Long. At the table we met the famous Texas tycoon, John Minihan, with his secretary, Stella D'Agata. Also at the table was a socialite from Boston, Jo Ellen Robertson. Later we met the ship's doctor, Doak Walker, with his nurse, Ann Marie Barrett.

It was a very enjoyable evening, and we were ready to leave the Captain when we found he had planned a large show in our honor. He led us to the large ballroom on the ship. Soon the M.C., Teddy McAloon, appeared on the stage and introduced the first act, which was a group of beautiful singers. We were surprised to find out they were the notable group from Spain, Connie Blake, Beverly Kennedy, and Nancy Cyr. As the singers glided off into the wings, a group of dancers came onto the stage. This group was comprised of Jay Burke, Carolyn Anderson, Martin Smith, and Lorraine Candiano, all led by Vic Battaglioli, the ship's dancing instructor. The highlight of the evening was a splendid display of nautical fashions. Among the models were Alice Sargent, Carole Parker, and Emily Pappalardo. After the show, we found out that the entire production had been put on by the ship's social director, Janet Drummey.

The next day, as we were walking along the deck, we saw Tina Pappalardo and Jean Aziz, enjoying their vacation from their famous art school.

At the end of a very enjoyable trip we docked at London.

CLASS

We visited all the quaint shops and restaurants of London, one of which was owned by Rachel Mitchell. There we saw the dean of a local girls' finishing school, Claire Oskar, with one of her teachers, Chris Carney.

The next day, deciding to go horseback riding, we were surprised to learn that the stable was owned by Diane Morley. The following day we received an invitation to visit a local art gallery, owned by Philip Roche. There we met Carole McLaughlin and Nancy Saul, two art collectors. They were admiring the recent works of James Valliere, a well known English portrait painter.

The next night we went to the London Palladium, where Richard Lange and his orchestra of fine musicians were playing. Among the members of the band were Bennie Ventura, on drums, and Bob Richardson, on the tuba.

We were very excited at the thought of seeing the changing of the guards at the queen's palace, for this is one of the great attractions of the country. Among the guards we recognized Richard May, Philip Henry, and Hollis Curtis.

That evening, at a reception given in our honor, we met Mary Phelan, the English representative to the World Red Cross. We also met Peggy Forgetta and Joan Roberts, two actresses renowned in the entertainment world.

Just before leaving London, we happened to meet Pat Gamans and Pat Casale, two lieutenants in the United States WAVES. After talking to them, we continued to the station to buy a ticket for Paris. On our arrival at the station we went to the ticket counter and to our surprise, Andy Zigelis was also there. He told us he had come to London to represent America in the Olympics.

Our next stop was Paris, France. We were met by the American ambassador to France, Robin Munroe, and his secretaries, Roberta Himber and Anne McCarty. Ambassador Munroe guided us personally through Paris. On the way to our hotel we met Joe Flynn, the owner of a large construction company. With Joe were his four engineers, Bill Stanley, Frank Hilton, Don Stewart, and Jimmy Meyers.

On our arrival at the hotel we were greeted by the owner, Carolyn Hager. As we marveled at the beauty of the well-run hotel, which she owned, she told us it was all due to her business manager, Bruce Elliot.

Early the next morning we turned on the radio and happened to catch the famous breakfast hour, starring Barbara Weingart and Faith St. Louis. During the program the announcer, Barbara Furness, interrupted with a word from their sponsor.

Later that day we were invited to a luncheon given by John Walvius, the premier of France. At the luncheon we were pleased to meet Mike Greenler and Charles Trombly, two prominent criminal lawyers. We also met Mary Glennie and Paula Coates, two literary experts. It was a great pleasure also to meet Lord Mayor of Dublin Bill Murphy, who was visiting this country. With Bill was his secretary, John Shea.

After the luncheon we decided to visit the Pasteur Institute, where we were surprised to see Priscilla Watts, a famous woman doctor, with her able assistant, Ann Wild. In this great institution we also met Robert Murphy and his co-worker, George Emery, two of the greatest scientists in the world.

On our walk back to the hotel we noticed a sign which read "Trombly and Lambert, Men's Fashions." As we entered the shop we met Rick and Dave, who are well known for their French-style fashions.

After we left the shop, we crossed the street and entered one of France's most fashionable salons. There we saw Charlotte Caron, the head fashion consultant. Charlotte told us there were many stores just like this all over the country, owned by Carl Schubert and Sam Perruccio.

That evening we went to the Parisian Night Club, where Frank LaVallo was the star performer. On the same bill was a great magic act by Richard Magoon and Betty Bisson. The next attraction was a famous singing group, which included Gene Sztucinski, Irene Murray, and Frances Brown.

The next morning, Ambassador Munroe drove us to the embassy. There we met Secretary Allyn Ratcliffe and Representative Kimball Harris. As we were touring the embassy, we had the great pleasure of meeting Elaine Roche, an important figure in the French political world.

As we were on our way to the dock for the return trip, we stopped off at a quaint gift shop to pick up a few souvenirs to bring home. We were surprised to see Barbara Houston and Judy French, who were the owners. As we continued on to the dock, we passed the offices of Dr. Karin Roebuck and Dr. John Holt.

As we were afraid we might miss the boat, we were escorted to the dock by two motorcycle policemen, John Surette and Gilly Cardoza.

As we boarded the ship, we remembered that gloomy day in May that had turned into so many pleasant weeks of renewing old friendships.

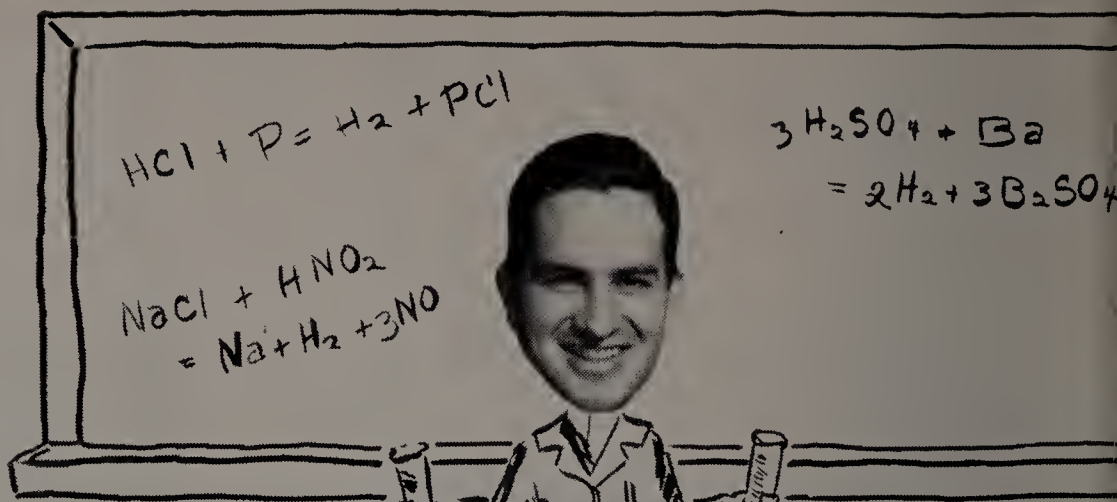

Respectfully,

Mary and Larry

C L A S S

We, the graduating class of 1958, sincerely believing ourselves to be one of the most brilliant and outstanding classes ever to emerge from these portals of learning, do hereby bestow upon the less worthy juniors those things which have marked our class as unique.

To the teachers we leave our regrets that our distracted minds often wandered to realms other than those in which they should have been busy, and we also leave our thanks for the time and patience they expended in teaching us.

To the juniors we leave our deepest sympathy that they can never be such a remarkably brilliant class as we were.

To North Andover High we leave our thanks for many wonderful memories.

Leonard Despres leaves to Mike Broderick his brilliant way of saying a lot in a few words.

To Ruth Smith and Judy Surette, Elaine Roche leaves her quietness and latent possibilities.

Bill Stanley leaves his position as Miss Mooradkanian's handyman to James Barclay. Get to work, Jim!

Connie Blake bestows upon Helen Phillips and Shirley Fournier her marvelous soprano voice. Look out, Broadway!

Doak Walker donates his method, "How to Go Steady in One Easy Lesson," to Lou DiFruscio, who seems to be doing all right by himself.

Pat Casale and Pat Gamans will their instinct for instigating trouble to Betty Ann Montanaro and Chris Moynihan. Watch out for those detention slips, kids!

Andy Zigelis bestows his brains and ability for leadership upon Joe Walsh, who really doesn't need it.

Anne McCarty leaves her hot-rod and her book "How Not to Drive an Automobile" to Diana McDowell. Beware, North Andover!!

Kenneth Melvin inherits Bob Murphy's scientific ability. Good luck on your trip to the moon, Kenny!

Ann Wild leaves her motto "Ready, Willing, and Able!" to Cathy Cummings and Mary Hosking. Put it to good use, girls.

Ronald Jewell gladly accepts Gil Cardoza's great baseball ability. Remember, Ronnie . . . the Red Sox are calling.

Rachel Mitchell leaves her many unmade-up days to Barbara Subatch and Beverly Pierog.

Kenny Kellan and Willy Nadeau inherit Marty Smith's mischievous ways and position as class jester.

Mary Mahoney donates her smile, contagious as a yawn, to Joyce Foulds and Judy Nicora.

Bill Murphy leaves so gladly that he barely has time to leave his hated notebooks from Problems and English to Jim Sweeney.

Lorraine Candiano leaves her knack of being late to Emily and Earlene Foster.

Allyn Ratcliffe leaves via the back door for fear someone will see him going.

Sue Roberts inherits the great journalistic ability of Chris Carney.

Faith St. Louis bequeaths her many great bursts of oratory in Problems to Judy Ormsby and Virginia Kershaw.

Donald Stewart leaves his many periods in the library to Irving Newman and Bob Boush.

Renée Broughton and Janet French gladly accept Tina Pappalardo's quiet, ladylike ways.

Charles Trombly leaves his democratic(?) interest in politics to James Hosking and John Mahoney. The poor Republicans!

Emily Pappalardo leaves her wide circle of friends (especially boys) to Lucille Travers.

To Walter Wilson goes Joe Flynn's knowledge of driving. Now maybe you will miss a few cars, Walter.

Nancy Cyr leaves her diamond and her ability to outargue anyone to Thelma Thompson and Connie Carney. Sorry, girls, but she's taking Ernie with her.

Bruce Gourley inherits Eggy Elliot's great track ability. Think you can break his high jump record?

Barbara Houston leaves her majestic art of making large sundaes to Dot Kennedy and Janice Boutilier.

Benny Osgood cheerfully accepts Richard Magoon's appreciation of food.

Barbara Furness and Alice Sargent leave their deceptively quiet ways to Lois Meserve and Linda Dunn.

John Walvius bestows upon Philip Arrigo all the fun(?) he had in Mr. Lee's biology classes. Get the smelling salts ready!

Bev Donnelly and Martha Foster inherit Barbara Weingart's tremendous ability in sports.

Jay Burke leaves — don't tell me he's really leaving? Hooray!

Stella D'Agata leaves her love for famous singing stars to Gail Roache and Nancy Curren.

Andy Heinze accepts Jim Meyers' great knack for getting into trouble with his math teacher.

Janet Drummey donates her vim and vigor, as well as her position as head cheerleader and most popular girl, to Marie Sullivan.

Mike Greenler bestows his great height and teeming brains on Bob Musumici.

Phil Roche wills his little Willys to Peter Perkins and Eric Bergstrom. Now you're sure to be on time for school, boys.

To Pat Durand and Paula Smith go the quiet, ladylike manners of Frances Brown.

John Chase endows David Donovan with his famous "prowl car."

Irene Murray leaves her ability in softball to Jill D'Agata and Muriel Finn.

WILL

John Surette bestows upon Ray Galloni his reserved seat in the school bus.
 Linda and Lorna Smith inherit Charlotte Caron's many witty sayings and good humor.
 John O'Brien is left Bob Hoogerzeil's tremendous knowledge of hockey.
 Judy French leaves her many summers on the Cape to Janet Duncan.
 Dick Lange and Jim Valliere sadly leave their many hours spent in the darkroom to Doug Walshe and Doug Mayer.
 Karin Roebuck sadly parts with her many spares in the guidance office. However, she is sure that Judy McClung will make good use of them.
 To Frank Elander goes Ted McAloon's artistic ability. This could mark the starting point of another Rembrandt.
 Peggy Forgetta and Carole McLaughlin leave their close friendship to Marilyn Ackroyd and Olive Gravel.
 Robin Munroe steps off the throne as basketball king and passes his ability on to Bob Bryan and Mike Byron.
 Diane Morley leaves her gorgeous wardrobe to Barbara Buchanan. You'll be the envy of all the girls now, Barb.
 Jackson Long's mild manner of driving is bestowed upon Tom McIntyre.
 Laurie Ferguson inherits Joan Roberts' many chauffeur-driven rides to school.
 Kibby Shea leaves his knack for going steady to Bruce Currier.
 Mary Glennie leaves her theory, "He Who Laughs Last Doesn't Understand My Joke," to Nancy DeAdder.
 Bobby Richardson bestows his gleaming red hair upon Henry Pitman.
 Alice Fowler accepts Paula Coates' love for animals (and for boys).
 Phil Henry leaves his out-of-town girls to William Shapell.
 Carole Parker leaves her good looks and gift of gab to Sheila Fountain, who is well equipped with both.
 Vic Battaglioli leaves his ability as a leader and in athletics, as well as his high position in the Honor Society, to Clinker Kenneally. Watch out for all those A's, Clink.
 Nancy Saul's nice clothes and her way with the boys are bestowed upon Joyce Hanson.
 Tom Cotter inherits Frank Hilton's love of English.
 Ann Marie Barrett's ability to know the latest is bestowed upon Mary Ward.
 George Emery wills his exciting and adventurous job of slaughtering chickens to William Paulson.
 Claire Oskar bequeaths her many brains and worn out books to Anne Messina. Now you should be the smartest girl in the land, Anne.
 Arthur Kettinger gladly accepts Frank LaVallo's gift of all the girls who hang around his locker.
 Priscilla Watts unhappily wills her athletic ability, as well as her brains and personality, to Ursula Perrone. Good luck with the needles, Pris! Brrrr!!!
 Edward Phelan is willed Dick May's many deceptively innocent ways.
 Carolyn Anderson and Bev Kennedy leave their long rides in Carolyn's ex-hot rod to Jane de Vebre and Peg McAloon. Watch out, boys.
 Benny Ventura wills his abundant supply of wit and jokes to Jerry Arcari.
 Stephen Roberts inherits Ricky Trombly's many nice clothes and great knowledge of cars.
 Carolyn Hager leaves her great sense of humor and knack for getting into trouble, as well as her quest for a diamond, to Joan Fraser and Mary Lou Hearty. You should have no trouble now, girls.
 Buddy Curtis leaves his knowledge of World History to Ronald Howard.
 Mary Phelan graciously wills her many long walks to Carolyn Heider and Marcia Kelly. Hope you find him, girls!
 Sam Perruccio donates his great natural wit and aptitude for shrewd remarks to Charles Randone.
 Kimball Harris leaves his love for cars to George Mastin.
 Leonard Thibault accepts happily John Holt's love of wild life, especially birds. Good luck climbing, Leonard!
 Gene Sztucinski wills her wonderful way with children, boys preferably, to Catherine Licciardello.
 David Lambert leaves his neat, industrious way to Ben Thompson.
 Clark Lewis inherits Chuck Mattraw's love of jazz and the fairer sex. Good luck, Clark!
 Jo Ellen Robertson donates happily her many musical talents to Linda Champion. Now that band will really start to hum!
 Sonny Chamberlin leaves his position as Mr. Foderaro's secretary to Richard Bamford.
 Betty Bisson leaves her many trips to Florida to Joyce Curtin. Happy traveling, Joyce.
 Roland Cook inherits Carl Schubert's artistic ability.
 Kathy McDuffie is willed Jean Aziz's ability to talk for hours on end.
 Larry Colby leaves his position as class farmer and his great personality to David Morse. Happy digging, David!
 Roberta Himber wills her neat appearance and friendly ways to Joan Bridges and Peggy Virr.
 So we now will lock the Golden Gate and long will live the Class of '58.
 We remain — on second thought maybe we had better leave. . . .

SOPHOMORES

The sophomores elected the following as class officers:

President	John Strobel
Vice-President	Etta Mae Nadeau
Secretary-Treasurer	Sally Drummey

Home room representatives included the following: Richard Smith, Room 8; Gail Bolderson, Room 18; Alan Foster, Room 19; John Kirk, Room 20; Margaret Matraw, Room 28; and Kathy Roberts, Room 29.

The sophomores played an active part in this year's extra curricular activities, serving as officers for the newly formed school clubs, playing leading roles in the school play, and taking an active part in varsity sports.

JUNIORS

This year, the junior class elected as its officers the following students:

President	Linda Champion
Vice-President	Martha Foster
Secretary-Treasurer	Olive Gravel

The following students served as home room representatives: Earlene Foster, Room 4; Patricia Durand, Room 6; Catherine Cummings, Room 14; Judith Nicora, Room 26; and Benjamin Osgood, Room 33.

A successful junior-senior dance was held in the gym November 8, 1957, to raise money for the respective class treasuries. In addition, the juniors sold Scarlet Knight emblems and autograph booklets to increase the amount in their treasury.

FRESHMEN

Those elected to serve as officers of the freshman class included the following:

President	Lanson Hyde
Vice-President	Janet Stephenson
Secretary-Treasurer	Elisabeth Kay

Those serving as home room representatives included Sandra Edwards, Room 35; Elisabeth Kay, Room 36; Gail Smith, Room 38; Deborah Morin, Room 39; and Leighton Detora, Room 40.

Congratulations to Peter Battaglioli and Arthur Woodbury on winning this year's Brooks School Scholarships.

The freshman class is to be commended for the fine spirit with which it entered into all our school activities, as well as for helping to maintain the high academic standards of our school.

A very successful yearbook dance, the proceeds from which were used to help defray the expenses of The Knight, was held on January 18.

The Knight staff wishes to congratulate John Gallant and George Haigh, co-editors of last year's yearbook, and their entire staff on the occasion of their winning an "Award of Distinction" certificate in the National Yearbook Award Ratings, given by the National Yearbook Exchange Club. This is a nationwide contest in which all the schools and colleges of the country are invited to participate.

The 1957-1958 school social calendar was drawn up by the Social Calendar Committee of the Student Council early in the school year.

Besides continuing its information desk service and sponsoring its annual dance, the Council engaged in many new activities this year. Included among its big projects were a successful exchange assembly program with Andover High School, the formation of a boys' chorus, a "School Spirit" drive, the organization of an adult association through whose help baton twirling and ballroom dancing classes were formed, and a car wash to help raise money for the Prom.

On February 15 the annual Honor Society dance was held in the gym. As an added attraction, the top five records were given as door prizes.

On May 15 the officers of the Society, accompanied by Miss Cook, attended and participated in a National Honor Society induction at Methuen High School.

The Society members assisted in the school library throughout the year.

At its last meeting of the year, the Society voted to donate two books to the library in memory of Francis J. O'Brien, former superintendent of schools. Also, money was given to the school for the purchase and planting of a pink dogwood tree on the school grounds.

The Science Club members enjoyed an auspicious first year, participating in several science fairs and winning many awards.

At the N.A.H.S. Science Fair, conducted February 21 in our school cafeteria, David Palmer received first prize for his rocket display; Douglas Wilson, second prize for his exhibition of electronic memory; and Harold Damerow, third prize for his Wilson cloud chamber. Kenneth Johnson was given honorable mention for his satellite.

These four boys also exhibited their work at the Merrimack Valley High School Science Fair, held at Lowell Technological Institute on March 28 and 29. In the overall competition, David Palmer and Harold Damerow placed fourth and tenth, respectively, and Douglas Wilson received honorable mention. In the sophomore class competition, David and Harold placed second and third, respectively. Douglas Wilson received second prize in the freshman competition.

David Palmer later went on to receive first prize at the State Science Fair, held at MIT, and had the honor of representing North Andover High at the New England Science Exhibit, held at the Boston Museum of Science on May 9 and 10.

Under the direction of Mr. Robinson, the previously vacant darkroom in our school was completely outfitted and put into active use by the members of the newly formed Photography Club. The club members took and developed pictures of several important school events during the year, including the school play, Honor Society inductions, and the successful Science Fair. Pictures showing the progress in the construction of the new Franklin School were also taken.

The club is looking forward to making a full length sound motion-picture next year.

On April 11, 1958, the North Andover High School band, together with that of Burlington and of Tewksbury High School, presented a band concert at Burlington. This concert was repeated at Tewksbury on April 12 and, on April 19, was presented in our own school auditorium where Priscilla Watts was the concertmistress.

The band was represented by Mary Glennie and Richard Lange at the 1958 New England Music Festival, and by George Mastin at this year's Massachusetts All-State Music Festival.

On May 3 the band participated in the Northeastern Music Festival at Winchester.

On May 9 it took part in the annual spring concert given by the public schools of North Andover.

During the past year the group has played at many of our school functions, including football games, the Tech tournament, and graduation. It has also participated in several town parades.

The battling Scarlet Knights of North Andover High chalked up their best season's record in a long time by racking up six wins, as against only one loss, and capturing the "Little Three" championship. The Knights' one loss (14-8) to Chelmsford, eventually the Class D champion, was, as can be seen by the score, a closely fought battle, with Chelmsford emerging victorious by only a narrow margin.

North Andover's Scarlet Knights turned in an excellent performance this past year. Led by Co-Captain Robin Munroe, who compiled 480 points in 18 regular season games, the Knights captured their third Lowell Suburban League championship, while extending their three year League victory string to 36 games. The only loss of the season came at the hands of Newburyport, a 46-41 heartbreaker.

The team ran up a record of 20 wins and 1 loss, which earned the boys a bid to the Tech Tournament for the third straight year. They romped through the preliminary games and right into the finals at Boston Garden, defeating Chelmsford (75-41) and Don Bosco (69-52). Led by Robin Munroe and Vic Battaglioli, the Knights played brilliantly to defeat a heavily favored Oliver Ames quintet by the score of 71-64 for the Class C Eastern Mass. championship.

Congratulations to Coach Laroche, to whose excellent coaching our boys owe their outstanding victory!

Best of luck to Captain-Elect Joe Walsh and next year's team!

North Andover's Scarlet Knights represented us well on the field this year. They compiled an overall record of twelve wins and eight losses, defeating such opponents as arch-rivals Methuen and Andover, Wilmington, Tewksbury, and Woodbury.

Congratulations to Coach Larochelle and the boys on the team for a job well done.

The track team, four years old, compiled a record of five wins and three losses. The boys won the Northern Division of the Essex County Track League. In a play-off tilt, they were defeated by Beverly for the League championship.

New records were set by Francis Chamberlin in the 440, Irving Newman in the mile, Francis Kenneally in the broad jump, Bruce Elliot in the high jump, and Andrew Zigelis in the shot put.

This year's team was the best yet in this sport's history at North Andover. It enjoyed a winning season and smashed several previous records.

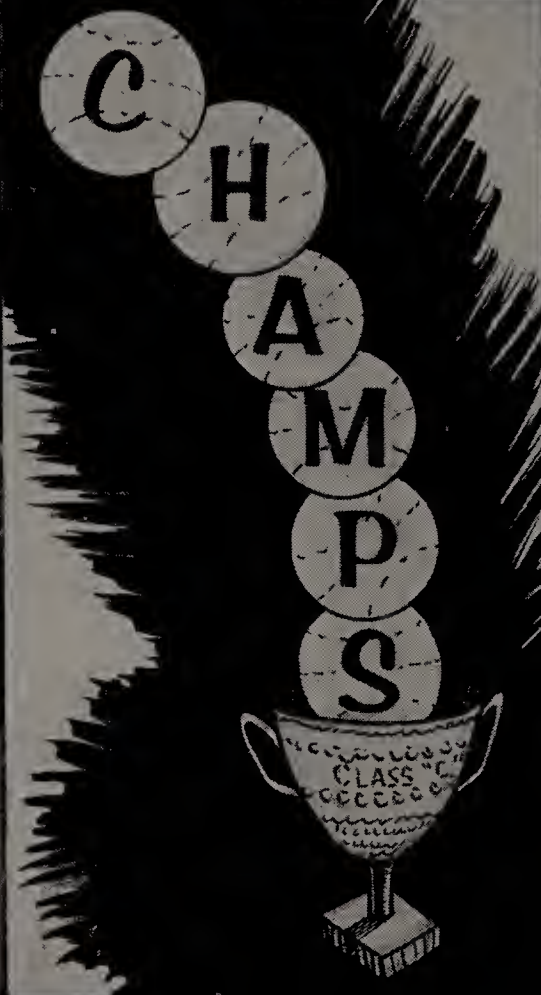

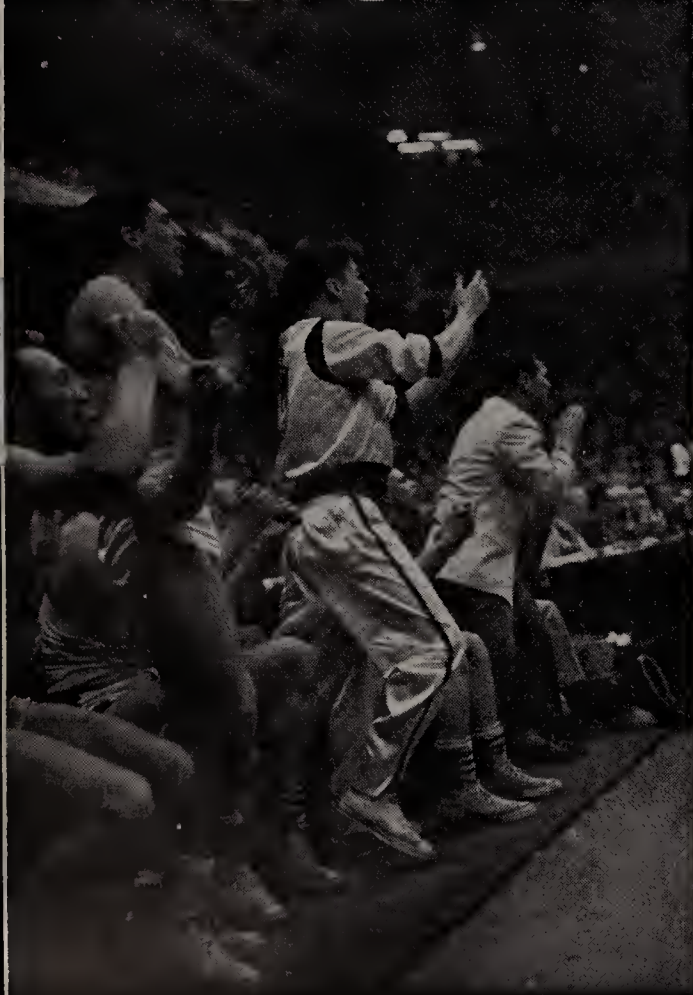

◀ Cheerleaders

Janet Drummey and Ann Marie Barrett served as head cheerleaders this year, and Marie Sullivan, Nancy Saul, Jane de Vebre, Mary Mahoney, Carole Parker, Claire Oskar, Judith Nicora, Donna Hammond and Jo Ellen Robertson comprised the rest of the squad.

In addition to performing at all the regular school football and basketball games, the girls again had the thrilling experience of cheering for our basketball team at the Boston Garden during the Tech Tourney.

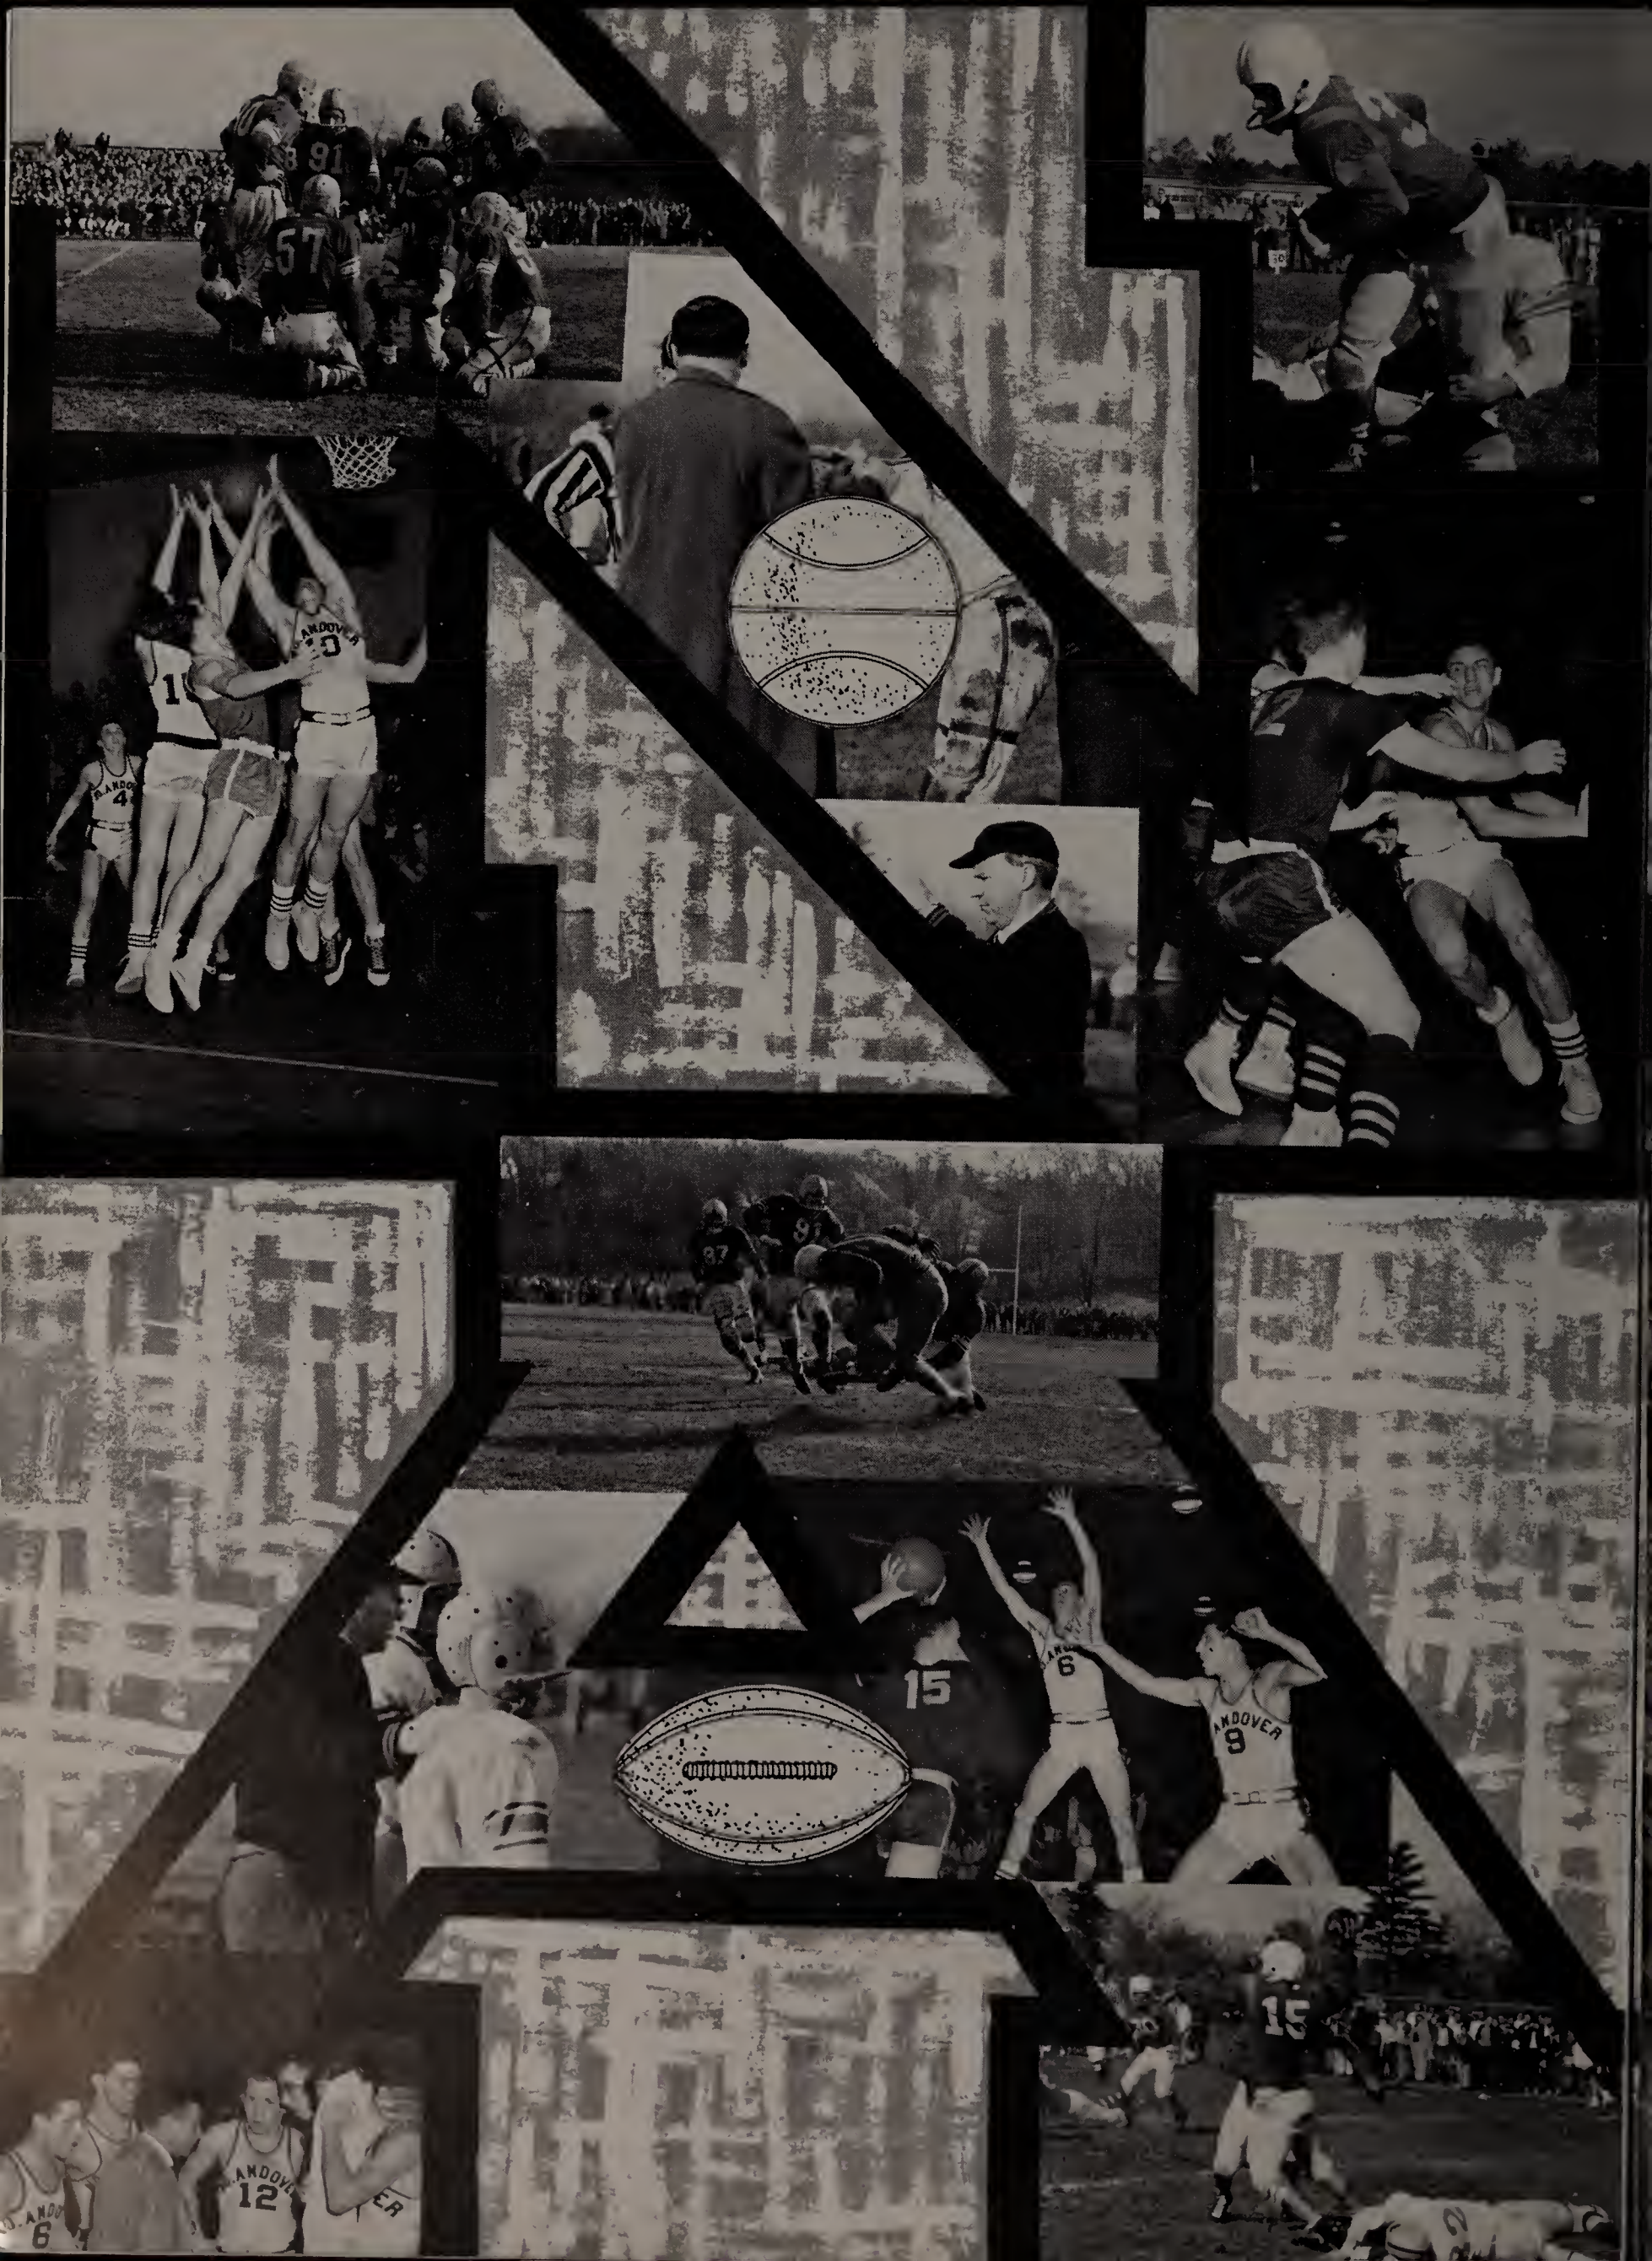

The annual Cheerleaders' Dance, held on October 8, added substantially to the group's treasury, and assisted in meeting the cost of the pretty new red and black uniforms purchased by the girls this year.
